Florida Philanthropic Network

Largely invisible to most of us is a set of institutions that add immeasurably to our quality of life in Florida. They include our hospitals, our colleges and universities, our museums and symphonies, our churches, synagogues and mosques, our childcare centers and our nursing homes, our little league teams and our libraries. They constitute the nonprofit sector, our state's fourth largest employer, and the very fabric of our communities.

What is Florida Philanthropic Network?

Florida Philanthropic Network is a statewide group of funders working to strengthen philanthropy through research, education and public policy.

Who is Florida Philanthropic Network?

Started in 2001 by seven leading Florida foundations, the Network is now comprised of the most engaged grantmakers in the state from Panama City to Naples and Jacksonville to Miami who collectively hold over $3 billion in assets and invest over $180 million in the nonprofit sector annually.

Why is it important?

Complex problems demand dynamic solutions. We believe that long-term, systemic change will occur through collaboration, cooperation, education, research and sound public policy.
